CALL FOR A STATE CON-

To the Democratic and Conservative Voters of the State of Tennessee. On the second Tuesday in November next, the important elections for Members of Congress, Governor of the State, and Members of the Legislature will be held. It is deemed of the highest importance, in solidate all power in a central government; to reduce the people to a state of immediate allegiance and subjection to

The Executive Committee appointed by the State Convention held in this city on the 9th day of June, 1868, have, therefore for the purpose of preserving harmony in our ranks and promoting unity of action in those elections resolved to call a convention of the Democratic and Conservative party of the State to assemble at the Capitol in this city on Tuesday the 13th of September next at 11 a. m. for the purpese of neminating a candidate for Governor, and taking such other steps as may be necessary to secure the thorough organization of the party. The several counties in the State are, therefore requested on or before the 1st Monday in Beptember to appoint delegates to that convention. GEO, J. STUBBLEFOED,

THE Sweetwater Enterprise is out for Gen. John C. Brown for Governor.

THE census returns so far indicate a pretty heavy decrease of the population of New England since 1860.

THE Philadelphia Press insists that "Conservative and Democrat in the South have always meant the same thing."

Tug Philadelphia Press must have s private spite at Napoleon. It calls him "General Jinks of the Grand Armee."

A DEAGON is being churched at Scranton, Pa., for saying 'by thunder." And "by thunder," he should be tried, and convicted and excommunicated for using such a horrid epithet as "by thunder."

It is claimed by the Avalanche that the ambitious cluster of shanties on the Chickseaw Bluff, in Shelby county, ha increased nearly one hundred per cent in population during the last ten years.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer advises any body in want of fun to go to the German gardens about eleven o'clock at night and shout "Viva la France." It would not be very funny for the fellow that would do the shouting.

THE "Girl of the Period" has been found in Fulton county, Indiana She speaks four languages, chews and smokes tobacco, plays the most difficult music on the piano, swears, dances superbly, and takes whisky "straight."

WHILE a large number of persons died of small pox in Russia last year, the number of deaths from this disease in all Ireland was only eighteen. It is claimed that compulsory vaccination has brought about this result in Ireland.

GRANT is expected to arrive in Wash ington to-day, and will hold a cabinet meeting. It is thought possible that the appointment of a Minister to England In place of Mr. Frelinghuysen, who has declined, will be made. It is reported that If the convention is simply to ascertain Grant tendered the appointment to Senator Trumbull, while at Chicago a few days | by the greatest management and energy, ago, but that gentleman declined it on the ground that he would rather remain in the Senate.

WE announce with pleasure the accession of Gen. John C. Vaughn to the editorial staff of the Sweetwater Enterprise. Gen. Vaughn is a man of deservedly great personal popularity; vigorous in thought and action, true, tried and trusted. We wish him the success in his new vocation to which his merits entitle SMUCKER, in his Public and Private Life of Louis Napoleon, (page 110,) says: "Seventeen years were the limit of the supremacy of Napoleon I. Seventeen years the restored Bonrbons reigned. Seventeen years Louis Phillippe occupied the throne, and we may safely predict that seventeen years will be the longest period allotted by the hand of Destiny to the restored dynasty of the Bonapartes. The parallel may seem absurd, but it is based on solid reasons, and deduced from rational inferences." As the Empire was proclaimed about January, 1853, Smucker's prediction did not prove true. We do not know, however, what the warmay

An agency for Koopmanschap & Co., the importers of Chinese, has been established in Boston. The Puritanic Bostoplans are as eager to reap the benefits of Chinese peonage as their ancestors were to grow rich on their African slaves. They will have no companctions of conscience at thus holding the Chinese coolies until their labor becomes invaluable to them as the labor of the negroes did to their ancestors, when they came to the conclusion that slaveholding was a terrible sin, but took good care to sell their negroes to their Southern brethren instead of freeing them. It is stated that Mr. Sampson, of North Adams, Mass., is so well pleased with the result of his introduction of Chinese labor into Massachusetts, that he will soon send for fifty more workmen to to advocate-no important policy look-California. ONE CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY.

THE TWO PARTIES. Col. Wm. H. Stephen, in biarecent leter to his old Whig associates in West

There are now but two parties in the United States, and for years to come here can be no other. One of these is the product, in part, of the recent civil war. Setting out upon the hypothesis of the divine right of kings, that all resistance to a government is treason, and that rebellion is the chief of all crimes—the one unpardonable sin—it proposes to take from the people the power to resist the government, no matter what may be the provocation. Its mission is, therefore, to break down the barriers which urround the State sovereigntles; to conthe political party which has for several years ruled and almost ruined us, that there should be unity of action among the Democratic and Conservative party of the State in those elections.

Immediate allegiance and subjection to that government, to prevent any union among them for their common protection by fomenting hatred between the white and colored races, and to keep the superior class under the ban of political disabilities, until they can shape the laws and institutions of the country exception. this model, and mould the habits and thoughts of the people to this new and gerous experiment of government.

The other party embraces all those who desire to curb the powers of the Government, to preserve the Constitutional guarantics of liberty, to give equal rights to all men, to remove from the Southern people their political disabilities, to give to those whose taxes support the Government a fair share in its administration, and to give vitality once more to that essential principle of liberty that the Government is made for the people, and not the people for the Government. From Canada to the gulf, from ocean to ocean, all who wish to set limits to arbitrary power, to preserve the writ of habeas orpus, and thus protect the personal iberty of the citizen, to secure ernment; all who wish to restore harmony and brotherly love to the American people; all who believe that a man may have fought for his native State without forfeiting the rights of a citizen, and without sinking below the level of a Hotentot-all these must act with this grand party, and with this alone. Any man who does this is my brother, whether Whig or Democrat, whether Northern or Southern, whether Confederate or Federal, whether American or foreigner, whether Israelite or Christian, whether Roman Catholic or Protestant. They are all alike citizens of our country. They all have a common interest in securing the blessings of a just, an economical and a paternal government. If they unite as a band of patriots, they may accomplish this result. If they divide, their overthrow is inevitable.

With which of these two parties do the Democratic and Conservative voters of the State of Tennessee sympathize? The latter. Then let us unhesitatingly perpetuate with that party the union established by the Convention of June, 1868, We then declared that it was the only political organization with which we could associate and formally united ourselves with it. Why should 'we not repeat that declaration? Has that party been untrue to the principles that it then professed! Is there less hope of its success? or has Radicalism by its subsequent course endeared itself to the people of the South? There is but one liope now, as there was but one then the States and the preservation of the people from the further oppressions and unjust exactions of the party first above described by Col. Stephens; that is by closely adhering to our alliance with the party secondly above mentioned. LEY OUR CONVENTIONS AND OUR CANDIDATES UNEQUIVOCALLY DECLARE THEMSELVES IN FAVOR OF A CONTINUATION OF THAT ALLI-

THE COMING STATE CONVEN-

Our editorial of yesterday morning unler the above heading was in the publication of it made to convey, in some portions of it, a different meaning from what was intended; we therefore re-pub-

Is there any use for political organizations in Tennessee? Parties mean something or nothing. If they are for the purpose of inaugurating and sustaining great questions of principle and policy, they are valuable and challenge the consideration of the people. If they are simply to subserve the interests of individuals and advance the ends of rings and cliques they are trifling, if not positively hurtful.

A convention has been called with a view to the ensuing canvass for Governor. A convention of whom? A convention for what? These are questions seriously to be considered and answered. which of certain named individuals can, bring together the largest number of personal friends, and to devise simply the means that will secure their election, then it is unworthy the attention of the great mass who have no interest in these personal ends. If the Convention is to leclare principles and agree upon what is the best interests of the State and nation, in which all classes, sects and conditions are deeply concerned, then its importance cannot be magnified. We find there are two views taken of this subject, though not frankly avowed. One looks to the convention as a means simply of advancing individual fortunes and of placing some favorite in the gubernatorial chair. The other looks to the convention as a means of preserving harmony among all those who concur in certain great questions of principle and policy, on the success of which it is believed depend the future peace and prosperity of the whole country, and especially the people of the Southern States. We belong to the latter. We repudiate the former. We know that those who first advocated and urged a convention, and the great body of those who will look anxiously to its deliberations, concur with us. It is not to be disguised, however, that the latter view will not, as a matter of course, prevail unless the people-the unsel-prevail in that convention; nor will it fish, unaspiring people-in the various counties of the State, bestir themselves and by personal attention to the matter see that such delegates are sent here as will truly reflect the popular will-delegates who will understand themselves as coming not for the ignoble purpose of advancing the fortunes of this or that man, but to advance the higher interests of the State and country, by the open avowal of principles, with honored men simply as instruments for their practical enforcement and application. If we have no well defined principles men he has now at work, all but four or cribe and enforce—in contradistinction to "old maids' societies" in several counties five are doing finely; the incompetent ones some other obnoxious and dangerous in Ohio. The slanderer! they have no policy-then the Convention is a play, to reap its rewards. If our view of the question is correct, the mere nomination of a man is of a ness of the Convention will be to define the character and purposes of the party that it represents, the principles on which of Col. Colyar being with them in the gurate. When it has done that, more than half the work will have been accomplished. There may be much or little division as to favorites for the nomihundred men in the State, would satisfy the people and give success in Tennessee to the glorious work of State and national

SOUTHERN PATIENCE. The St. Louis Republican pays this just tribute to the Southern character: Patience was not once esteemed a Southern virtue, but afflictions sometimes reveal heroic attributes that prosperity and success cannot develop. Our Southern brethren were thought to be brave and passionate, but the slow-burning furnace they have been subjected to for five years past has shown that, without being less brave and passionate than we esteemed them, they possess profounder properties of heroism than they have been credited with. Their condition at the close of a four years' exhaustive and unsuccessful war, in which absolute failure had followed the expenditure of all their resources, was pitiable to a degree that has seldom been witnessed. Defeated, disarmed and utterly impoverished would appear to make up the full measure of misery to a people; but in the case of our Southern countrymen there was added to this the rare humiliation of being placed in political subjection to their own exslaves-an ignominy which none but themselves can fully comprehend. For a time the accumulated burdens seemed more than they could bear, and the commencement of a despondent migration to Brazil was apprehensively regarded as the initiative of a movement that might possibly make the South the desolate, exclusive home of semi-barbaric Africans. But fortunately for the Southern people themselves, fortunately for their Northern kinsmen, and fortunately for the govern. ment that seemed resolved to drive them to despair, the Southern leaders came forward and exerted the personal authority which had demonstrated such potency in the war. They condemned the Brazil movement, and advised their people to remain at home and accept what might come. Their counsel was obeyed, and heavy and light no top Buggles at very low figure. The best article of Sulkles always on hand. Re come. Their counsel was obeyed, and ing to the country an element which that country appeared anxious to get rid of, but which it will yet learn to appreciate Besten in the war, disarmed, deprived of the political rights which were a part of themselves, harrassed by constant military interference, and annoyed by the offensive conduct of the ignorant masses into whose hands had been entrusted the authority they once wielded, there was nothing left them but to seek a partial oblivion of their afflictions in hard labor in their mortgaged cotton fields, while their ex-slaves wallowed in franchises they knew not the value of, and an unfriendly party in Congress spent year after year in passing measures to perpetuate the subjection of four million Americans to four million Africans. It was this weary ordeal of five years, in which Southern heads were smitten down whenever they dare to lift themselves up, that has added to the Southern character a fortitude that it was not supposed to possess, and such as few peoples have ever exhibited. Had this people been brave and passionate only, they would have broken ont in repeated futile resistance to the Federal authority.

But they made no such resistance. Their submission at Appomattox was absolute, and has been maintained unbroken every day and every hour since then. They recognized that it was their duty to suffer and they have endured their sufferings, not with spathy and despair, but with an unmurmuring patience thoroughly heroic. They have added their valuable cotton crops, produced by their own labor. to the wealth of the country; they have assisted to pay a debt that represents the cost of their defeat; they have submitted without opposition to orders and processes issued by those who were once their servitors; they have seen their hardly earned substance devoured by greedy and characterless adventurers from distant States, and they have done and borne all this without either resentment or indifference. In view of the spectacle they have thus presented, and are still presenting, it may be asked in their behalf, if it is not time that their oppressions should cease? Has the government of the United States. this day, more valuable and virtuous citizens in any part of its entire domain than those proscribed white people of the South? And can any government, with disabling a people whose only answer to the infliction is the mute eloquence of a fortitude that has scarcely a parallel?" MR. JAMES L. > When the question of Chinese immigration was discussed two or three years ago, the Radicals professed themselves violently opposed to it, on the ground that it would introduce a species of slavery into this country, something like peonage in Mexico. Now when it has nonstrated that the negro cannot furnish the "intelligent labor" demanded in the New England States, these selfsame Radicals have made the astute disovery that the Chinese coolies come of their own free will. Of course they do, but they understand before they come to this country that they have to enter into a state of servitude or peonage for a number of years. The Radicals are perfectly willing to see their law thus evaded.
